

$10.00 REWARD 2 Bay Mares Estray, white stripes in face, branded M4 on right shoulders.

Finder notify H. A. Day, Lacombe, Alberta.

COAL and WOOD

Phone 1

Drumheller Lump
Pembina Lump
Pembina Stove Coal
Banner Lump

Call in and get one of our Calenders

STEERS BROS.

The Western Globe.

Lacombe, Alta.

Advertising Rates

50c. per inch per issue for display advertising.
Legal notices 12c. per line.
For Sale, Wanted, Estray, Etc.
50c. per insertion, (up to 1 inch)
No reduction for time or space.
January 1, 1919.

C. B. Halpin and Sons, Publishers

WEDNESDAY DEC. 15, 1920.

Subscription—Canada and Other British Possessions, $1.50 per year. U. S., $2.50

Gifts For Christmas

AT SPECIAL PRICES

1847 Roxers Silverware Table Knives, per doz. $7.00 Dessert Knives ..... $6.50	Auto-Strop Razors Price $5.00  Electric Grill $16.50  Child's Tea Set $1.50  Flash Lights Complete with Battery  Automobile Skates Price $2.00 to $8.00  Adam's Community Baby Spoons 95c.  Children's Sleighs Prices 90c. to $5.00	Adam's Community Butter Spreader 6 for $7.50—$1.30 ea.  Roger's Berry Spoon $2.00  Adam's Community Silver- ware Teaspoons $7.75 Doz  Electric Irons Price $7.00  Electric Toaster $7.25  Child's Desk and Chair $7.50
---	---	---

Morrison & Johnston, Ltd.
Lacombe and Bentley

Will There be a Victrola in Your Home This Xmas?

The Victrola today enjoys a world wide popularity that could not have been achieved save by being the best that human brains could devise.

ALSO STARR, Pathe and Phonolas in Oak, Mahogany, and Walnut at $125, $135, $160, $177 and $200.
Sold on Terms as Desired.

ALL MACHINES FULLY GUARANTEED

Calendars and Weather Charts

We have a limited number of these. They are free for the asking. None given to children.

Xmas Candy

BULK and BOXED

Moirs, Neilson's, Freads', Patterson's and Willard's in 1, 2, 3, and 6 lb. Boxes. $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 up. Neilson's and Willard's and Freads', candy in bulk, 80c. per lb. and up.

Have Good Candy For Xmas.

E. O. FOLLIS

YOUR DRUGGIST

GIFTS FOR ALL

Gift goods are selling fast, but we still have something left for everyone.

Gifts For Mother

Books, Hand Baza, Serving Trays, Jardinieres, Fern Pots, Hot Water Bottles, Stationery, Casseroles, French Ivory, Perfume, Plants, Cut Flowers, Candy, Etc.

Gifts For Father

Books, Fountain Pens, Eversharp Pencils, Bill Books, Pipes, Smoking Stands, Tobacco pouches, cigars, Etc.

Gifts For Her

French Ivory, Manicure Sets, Brush and Comb Sets, Kodaks, Fountain Pens, Stationery, Photo Frames, Perfume, Cut flowers, Candy etc.

Gifts For Him

Kodaks, Books, Fountain Pens, Pipes, Smoking Sets, Cigarette Cases, Cigarette Tubes, Safety Razor, Collar Bags, Cigars, etc.

Gifts for Boys and Girls

Brownie cameras, Books, French Ivory, Military brushes, Collar Bags, Purses, Hockey Sticks, Games, Caron Boards, Crokinole Boards, Ouija Boards, Candy, Etc.

Gifts For Children

Toys and Games of All kinds, Sandy Andy's, Pile Drivers, Strutomods, Toy Trains, Picture Books, and Story Books, Kidie Cars, Rooking Horses, Dolls of all kinds, big and little, Dolls carriages and furniture

We have provided well for the kiddies, so bring them in to see the toys.

Potted Plants, Cut Flowers, Holly, all fresh stock for Xmas.

Leave your orders early as our supply is limited.

The McDermid Drug Co. Ltd.

D. A. Lothian, Manager

Phone 26

A. M. MacDonald

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public

Solicitors for the Town of Lacombe, Merchants Bank of Canada, Union Bank of Canada, R. G. Dunn & Co, The Colonial Investment and Loan Co., Etc

L. J. FOUTS

Provincial Auctioneer.

Well experienced on the value of all things in the farming line. Sales conducted to assure the Owners highest approval. See me for dates, or phone 1402 Box 117, Lacombe

Lacombe Mission

Sunday preaching services at 3 p.m. and 7.30 p.m.
On Delmage street. R. R. and F. E. Haight, pastors. Sunday school 2 p.m. Meeting Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 7.30 p.m. Any needing spiritual help will be visited by applying to the pastor. Phone 230

Jones, Scott & McLaurin

Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries.

Offices Denike Block
Phone 19 P. O. Box 148
E. H. Jones, K.C. H. G. Scott, L.L.B.
W. R. McLaurin

T. J. McKENTY

Barrister-Solicitor
Notary

Offices: Royal Bank of Canada, Building
Phone 102 Lacombe.

JOHN McKENTY

Notary, Conveyancer, Accountant
Official Auditor, Issuer of Marriage Licenses
Office: ALLAN STREET

W. M. M. TOUCHE

Teacher of Violin Piano and Voice
Graduate of Chicago Musical College.

Pupils prepared for Toronto Conservatory examinations.
Telephone 170 P. O. Box 42

Dr. R. ROBERTS

Veterinarian

Phone 153 P. O. Box 74
Government Inspector

Dr. W. J. Brandewie

Veterinarian

Winter's Barn Lacombe
Phone 227

Government Inspector

DENTIST

Dr. E. G. Simmonds-Dentist, Member Royal College of Surgeons (England), Licentiate Royal College Physicians, (London), L.D.S. 1900.
Barnett Avenue, Lacombe.
Over Macdonald's New Garage.

McLeod's - "We Sell For Cash—so Sell for Less" - McLeod's

Stores at Lacombe and Clive

A Christmas Sale of Women's Neck Furs and Muffs At

20 Per Cent. Off

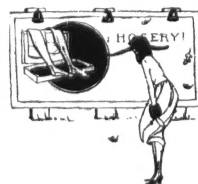

This sale of lovely furs should solve the question of what to give to some of your women friends, and at prices that have not been equalled for many a day.

Beautiful Fur Sets of Oppossum, Natural Wolf, Arctic Sable, Taupe Sable, Etc.

Made up in the popular new styles; full size stoles, and round muffs.

Priced at $19.00 to $60.00 Each

Your choice of any piece in Stock Less 20 per cent.

Silk Stockings for Gifts

And at generous reduction in price. Niagara Maid pure thread silk hose, with lisle garter top; heels and toes in shades—Mode, Grey, Pink, Black, and White. Our regular $3.50 quality.

For $2.75

Others at $1.00 and $1.25

The Grocery Department is full of Good Things for Christmas

We have anticipated your requirements, and you are assured of better service and lower prices.
McIntosh Apples, finest quality stock, per box ..... $4.00
Northern Spy Apples.—We bought these for your Christmas dessert, box ..... $4.00
Florida Grape Fruit, large ..... 15c.
Extra Large Lemons, per doz ..... 50c.
Large Oranges, doz ..... 90c.
Oranberries, per lb ..... 25c.
Turkish Figs ..... per pkg. 15c. and 30c.
Tuna Dates, every one separate, fresh stock, per lb ..... 35c.
Lettuce, Cabbage, Turnips, Etc. Carrots and Parsnips ..... 20c. 35c.
Heinz Pickles ..... doz 35c.
Heinz Pork and Beans ..... 20c. and 30c.
Heinz Sweet Pickles, Ketchup, Chili sauce, Olive Oil, Beefsteak Sauce, etc.
Van Camp's Pork and Beans with Tomato Sauce ..... 10c.

Our Christmas Waists are Pretty, Becoming and Bewitching

More of daintiness, stylishness and low priceness cannot be embodied in waists. So many charming styles to choose from, and everyone a perfect style. The materials are lovely sheer Georgette, Crepe-de-Chene and Voiles; beautifully embroidered or bead trimmed.

Priced at $5.00 to $14.00

Handkerchiefs for Christmas Gifts

The work of skilled Swiss and Irish Workers. Plain and initialed handkerchiefs of Irish linen; hand embroidered and hemstitched or plain hem stitched, are made in men's and women's sizes.

Dainty Swiss Handkerchiefs with a small pattern embroidered in one corner. And it is astonishing to see the exquisite work and delicate coloring at such moderate prices.

From 17 1-2 c. to 50c.

Children's Fancy Handkerchiefs in boxes, printed with nursery pictures, at 35c., 50c., and 75c. per box.

Handkerchiefs in Xmas Boxes for mailing, at 50c., 75c., and $1.00

Dr. Jaeger Wool Gloves and Sox For Men

Jaeger marks stand for the best quality obtainable at the price. Your friends will appreciate these marks of quality.

Gloves at $1.50 to $2.50
Socks at $1.25 and $1.50.

Silk Socks for Men

In grey, tan, black and navy, at ..... $1.50 pair.

Men's Fine Shirts

New and attractive patterns, are here in perfect fitting, finely made shirts ..... $2.75 to $5.00

Story Books

are a continuous source of pleasure to children. Nursery Rhymes, Fairy Tales and Picture Books. At 10c. to $1.50.

Silk Mufflers for Men and Women

A useful and inexpensive gift. They are knitted in several different patterns and shades. At from $1.75 to $5.00.

Dolls for Every Kiddie

At prices ranging from 35c. to $3.00.

Real Irish Linen Table Cloths

Bleached white as snow and of genuine old time quality. Size 72 x 90 at $16.00 and $17.50.
Other cloths at $6.00 and $7.50.

Large Size Bed Spreads

Are reduced for immediate sale. Regular $6.50 and $7.00.

For $5.50

White Marseilles Quilts or superior quality and finish.

APPLES

The Finest B. O. Stock of No. 1
Wrapped Apples, Johnnathans, Wagners and Spys, At Lowest Possible PRICES

A. M. CAMPBELL

LACOMBE'S
Departmental Store

The Store of Personal Service

Groceries

Everything For Christmas

Raisins, Currants Shelled, Walnuts Almonds, Peels in Packages, Figs in Packages, Candy, Christmas Mixture-Creams and Chocolates.
Friends' Chocolates in Fancy Boxes,
Oranges, Jap Oranges, Peanuts, Walnuts, Almonds, Brazils and Filberts.

Helpful Hints And Sensible Suggestions Of Suitable Gifts For Christmas Tide

A little over a week and Christmas will be here. Probably you haven't done any Xmas Shopping yet, and dreading it like everything. Let us help you. We have our gifts arranged in convenient booths, where you can see them. Come in, look around, you will find it easy to select your wants. This is a partial list of what we would suggest for a sensible gift.

Crepe de Chene and Georgette Blouses-Values up to $13.75 (Boxed separately) for $10.00.

Silk and Satin Camisoles-in various colors, $2.35 to $3.50.

Brassiers of Silk Lace and Embroidery-Some of the very newest designs at $2.35, $2.75, and $3.50.

Silk Combinations and Nightgowns-In silk and washable satin, $4.25 to $8.75.

Gloves-Silk, Kid and Chamoisette-in a profusion of colors, $1.25 to $3.00.

Boudoir Slippers-In every color, $2.00, $2.25 and $3.00 Boudoir Caps-Dainty caps of silk and lace.

Silk Scarfs-Any lady would appreciate one of these shoulder scarfs, $4.75.

Silk Hand Bags-In two tone effects, $2.75 and $3.25.

Silk Hosiery-In all the wanted colors, $1.50, $2.50 and $3.00.

Skating Sets-Billie Burke Tam with wide scarf $5.00 a set. Toque with wide scarf $3.95.

Fancy Linens-Luncheon Cloths, Centres, Cushion Tops, Runners, Doylies, Mats, Etc.

Handkerchiefs-Never before have we offered such a large and varied selection of handkerchiefs, all arranged in a booth where you can easily make your selection. Kiddies' Handkerchiefs 2 for 15c., 10c. each.

Kiddies' Handkerchiefs, boxed, 30c., 50c., 75c.

Ladies' Handkerchiefs, 25c., 35c., 50c., 75c., $1.00 ea.

Boxed Handkerchiefs 30c., 50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00.

Initial Handkerchiefs, linen, boxes of 3, hand embroidered, $1.25.

Initial Handkerchiefs, Lawn, boxes of 3, hand embroidered, $1.00.

Furs are always in demand during the Xmas season. We have Iceland Fox Sets, white; Natural Wolf, Fox, Japanese Fox, etc., at special prices.

Gents' Furnishings

Men's Guantlet Driving Mitts in Fur-Astrichan and Imitation Buffalo

Men's Plaid and Felt Sole Slippers.

Men's Cozy Slippers

Men's Brushed Wool Mufflers.

Men's Silk Knit Mufflers.

Silk Crochet Mufflers.

Belts in Xmas Boxes.

Men's Suspenders in Xmas Boxes.

Men's Silk Neckwear in Fancy Boxes.

Men's Initial Handkerchiefs in Fancy Boxes.

Men's Leather Belts with Sterling Silver Initial Buckles

Arm Bands and Hose Supporters, Etc.

Hardware Specials

Silverware, Including Knives and Forks, Berry Spoons, Cold Meat Forks, Pickle Forks, Butter Knives, Sugar Shells; Coffee Spoons, Gravey Ladles-All Adam Design.

Carving Sets, Gasolene Lamps, Electric Irons, Pyrex ware, Foot Warmers, Pocket Knives, Percolators, Hand Sleighs, Skates, Hockey Sticks, Etc.

New Trial Ordered in Nickle Case

Judgment by Mr. Justice Walsh, in the trial of Stanton A. Nickle, against whom a charge of manslaughter was laid in the supreme court, following the death of Mrs. W. Campbell, who was struck by an automobile driven by Nickle in Calgary, early in August, has been over-ruled by a judgment of the supreme court of Alberta, handed down Wednesday.

The appeal lodged by the attorney-general's department, on the ground that if Justice Walsh's charge to the jury did not contain a proper interpretation of the law governing the case was allowed a new trial was granted.

As a result of this decision, Nickle will again be placed on trial, on a manslaughter charge, when the whole case will be gone over again and all evidence reproduced.

Mr. Justice Beck dissented. The crown do not consider it necessary to immediately re-arrest Nickle, but he will be compelled to enter into bonds for the same amount for his appearance at the next court of competent jurisdiction to stand his trial for the killing of Mrs. Campbell.

Hon. Mr. Justice Beck, who did not concur in the course of his judgment said: "Assuming that being intoxicated while driving an automobile 20 miles an hour on the highways was an unlawful act on the part of the accused within the statutory definition of manslaughter, it is clear to me for the reason I have already indicated that the unlawful act must be related to the killing by the way of cause and effect, and consequently that the learned trial judge was right in telling the jury the bald fact of driving an automobile 20 miles an hour, plus the admitted killing, was not sufficient to justify conviction. There must be something more, and in the circumstances of the present case, that something more must be negligence on the part of the accused and the learned judge directed his jury fully upon the aspect of the case."

"Having the view of the law which I have expressed, I think the judge's charge was unexceptionable, and in deed, excellent; whereas had his mind been directed to a consideration of a question whether a breach of the particular provisions of the provincial statute relating to motor vehicles constitute an illegal act, and he had omitted to direct them upon that question he might easily have confused the jury."

"In my opinion, therefore, the appeal of the crown should be dismissed."

Judgment of Mr. Justice Ives, was in part as follows: "In the case at bar the unlawful acts are prohibited only by the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Act dealing with intoxication and with speed. It must be acknowledged to rest solely upon the ground of public safety. Other provisions clearly have nothing to do with public safety; as for instance, the prohibition of operating without a number plate being affixed to the car.

"So that it would seem to me that we must in every case examine the statute which makes the act unlawful. If we find by the nature of the act prohibited that the purpose of the provision is public safety, then it should be held that a breach of that statute is an unlawful act within the meaning of the term as used in section 252 of the Criminal Code."

"There is evidence here pointing to intoxication and to excessive speed. In either case, 'the unlawful act' consists of two elements. It is not a question whether one of the elements brought about the homicide, but whether in fact, both elements were present. If they were and it is for the jury to decide, then the homicide must have resulted from an unlawful act, and the defendant was guilty of manslaughter."

"I would therefore, answer the questions reserved in the affirmative, and order a new trial."

In the judgment of Mr. Justice Stuart, who pronounced in favor of a new trial for Nickle, it is stated that the occasions in which the Crown has asked to have an acquittal on a criminal charge set aside and the accused tried again for the same offence have been fortunately rare. This was done twice in the Alberta courts, however.

"The crown took the position that while the accused was charged with the unlawful act of negligent driving, and thus guilty of manslaughter, still, aside from negligence altogether, the crown stated that he was guilty of certain other unlawful acts by which he killed the deceased, so that whether he was negligent or not, he was still guilty of manslaughter. These other three 'unlawful acts' which the crown charge were violations of the Motor Vehicle Act, namely, operating an automobile while intoxicated, operating it at a speed greater than was reasonable."

"As the accused was acquitted by the jury," it is stated in the judgment "we must assume that they refused to find the accused guilty of negligence. With that finding this court is, of course, quite unable to interfere. No attempt is being made to ask us to interfere with it."

"What the crown says before us is this: The judge should have told the jury that if the accused was, in fact drunk when he drove the automobile against the deceased, then, even though they (the jury) might think that even while drunk he was driving with reasonable care (which of course is a possible thing) still they should convict him of manslaughter, because in driving an automobile while drunk he was guilty of an unlawful act."

The decision follows the same line of reasoning with respect to the crown's claim of driving at a speed greater than the limit or than was allowed

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church,

Services, Sunday, Dec. 18th

Morning 11 a.m. Subject: "The Penalties of Insincerity."
Evening, 7.30 p.m. Subject: "Life's Fitful Fever."

SPECIAL Messages

at Both Services. Everyone cordially invited.

Xmas Entertainment

St. Andrew's Church Sunday school Xmas Entertainment will be held Wednesday evening, 22nd at 8 o'clock. Program of choruses, duets and recitations. Adults 35c.

FOR SALE

One 1 and 3-4 Gas. engine and pump jack-used only three months. Apply at this office.

TEACHER WANTED

Qualified teacher wanted for Carrist S.D., duties to commence, January 3, 1921. Apply stating salary required to F. C. Nelson, Sec.-Treas., Blackfalds P. O., or phone 610, Bentley D8-3c.

TEACHER WANTED

Qualified first class teacher wanted for Eureka Valley S. D., duties to commence Jan. 3, 1921. Apply stating experience and salary required to G. J. Buckeye, Sec.-Treas., Lacombe D8-3c.

Teacher wanted

Qualified teacher wanted for Lakeside school, duties to commence Jan. 3, 1921. Apply stating experience and salary wanted to R. Hutchinson, Sec.-Treas., R2, Lacombe.

For Sale or Trade

Big imported registered shire mares, in foal to imported stud. Also some young and aged horses. Will trade for grade cattle or horses. Mc Kenzie Bros., Box 178, phone 224, Lacombe.

NOTICE

Having bought out the Hop Chung laundry and moved to the building opposite the Globe Office. I am for business. Anyone having accounts against the Hop Chung Laundry will present them to me and I will pay same. H. Y. Lim.

Shoemakers

KAPICA BROS
We have an up-to-date shoe repairing outfit, and guarantee first class work. It pays to send your shoes to us by mail. All work guaranteed. P. O. Box 472, Lacombe. Show up opposite the Rex Theatre.

The Edmonton Journal

Series No. 7

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

Christmas Dinners in Alberta

A peep into the Good Old Days and a birdseye view of What will Grace the Dinner Table in Alberta's Homes, Christmas Day 1920.

Wild Game-Roasts from Beaver to Moose, Buffalo and Caribou, Prairie Chicken to Wild Goose.

A Splendid Alberta Story to send to the folks in other Lands.

Subscribe today to the Journal through your local agent or send in the coupon

The Edmonton Journal.

COUPON

Send me the Semi-Weekly Journal. Enclosed find $2.00 for one year's subscription.
Enclosed find $8.00 for one year's subscription to the Daily Journal.

Name.....

Address.....

AT THE REX

Ora Carew will be the attraction at the Rex on Wednesday and Thursday next, Dec. 22 and 23, in her most recent and thrilling masterpiece, "Overland Red."
Dustin Farnum in a strong dramatic role and beautiful Kathryn Adams as his leading lady gives promise of an enjoyable performance when "Big Happiness," the Robertson-Cole super-special will be shown at the Rex on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 17 and 18. "SHOOTING" scenes and shooting deer were found to be not entirely incompatible when the Eugene O'Brien company, with Zena Keefe, as leading woman, and Ralph Ince as director, were at Saranac Lake recently getting scenes for O'Brien's latest Selznick picture, "His Wife's Money," which comes to the Rex on Monday and Tuesday, 20 and 21st.

George Doherty, Proprietor

Wood For Sale

Green or dry stove wood for sale, delivered in Lacombe for $2.25 per rick. Good sound wood. Apply George Fernie, phone Aspen Beach, Lacombe.

In Pounds

Brown horse 8 years old; white spot in face, both hind feet white, cut with wire or rope on left hind foot. Geo. Kent, poundkeeper, one mile north of Lacombe.

Hay For Sale

I have for sale about 23 tons of good Wild Hay at my farm 2 1/2 miles south of Gull Lake. E. E. Scott, Lacombe. ttc-c

For Sale

Hard coal base burner good as new; Also Oak coal heater nearly new. Apply Hugh Reed. Phone R1711.

Engines For Sale

Two 1 and 1-2 horse power engines. All in good order and can be bought at a snap. Apply to A. McConnachie, Central Garage.

Pigs For Sale

Nine young pigs for sale. Phone R. O. Bury, E2708, Lacombe. D8s

Steer Stray

Red Muley holl-tailed yearling steer, No visible brand. At my place, south end of Gull Lake. Phone 316. Geo. Cabalka. D1-5p

Dolls                      Dolls                      Dolls

Sewing Sets ..... 50c. to $2.50

Delivered Christmas Eve

heifer with horns, three yrs spring, Brand L-6 on right Brand very dim. G. E.
Bentley.

ribs. Brand very dim. G. E.	class references. Apply Mrs. A
Walton, Bentley.	nie T Patterson, Sec.

Union Bank Building,—Lacombe, Alberta

From the Diary of A Hudson's Bay Clerk in the Seventies

PASSING THE SPRING OUT

By O-G-E-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Continued From Last Issue)

At last spring arrived, with ducks and all summer birds and open water, thank goodness, so we were able to get two kids down again and feed up our poor dogs who had been on very scant rations for some time. I heard that the Ki-say-the-shah hand was in and camping along a small river some fifteen miles away, busy gathering in the egg harvest, and also catching mink and muskrat. When I told Pierre we would start in a day or two for these Indians, I noted he was very sulky, but this I passed over. Our large canoe was just getting the finishing touches and was about ready for the gun. This is applied by the squaws, and I amused myself watching them. Finally we had a small trading outfit packed in bales, and placing the rest of the goods in the charge of O-sowuk, away we went one fine morning, in the bow with my gun ready for anything in the shape of game. For my dear reader, we had no ample store of provisions to draw on, but simply some tea and sugar with a very little flour and pemmican, so the task of supplying the larder was a daily one.

The Carrot River expands here to Red-Mud-Lake, so-called from a fine red clay found on its shores. Also ash and elm trees are found here, the only place I have seen them in Saskatchewan. We rode straight across the middle of the lake, and just about half-way across the canoe was whirled round and found myself facing homeward. "What is the matter Pierre?" I asked. "I won't go to those Indians. They are bad, and will poison us both. We are going back." Jumping round and facing Master Pierre I grabbed the gun, and took in about a bucket of water. Then in a loud voice I said: "Turn round, you old scamp, unless you want to swim ashore, and in two minutes you had the old man at my mercy, for he could not swim and was nervous in a canoe. I happened to be brought up in Lakefield (close to Peterboro) where the famous canoes originated, and part of our boyish pleasures was racing the various models turned out by honest Tom Gordon of Lakefield, who was undoubtedly the inventor. Pierre was now bawling and a very quiet and obedient one. After a pleasant paddle we sighted the Indian camps, all moose skin tepees I noted. These were Indian and Lac, and hunters all right, was my inward comment. Running our canoe up the little creek, we landed right amongst them, and as the custom is, I went to shake hands with the Indians. Nothing doing—they simply paid no attention to us. So we went in the upper tent thousand could have treated us with more silent contempt than these unlettered savages. I walked towards the canoe, and Pierre hissed out, "I told you so. Worst thing will happen yet." "Quiet, you dog," was my reply. Our chilly reception was made worse by noting black Daniel standing back of one of the groups and smiling to think O-g-e-mas-es was being turned down. On passing through the camps I noted some of the older women scraping the meat and fat off some recently killed bear skins, and further on were groups of the younger women who gave me the first kindly glance I had received. I opened some of our bales and took a few of the choicest beads and some other fancy articles, and tackled the girls to buy. As these were the very latest patterns in savagdom, buy they did, evidently to the disgust of their elders. Aided by my broken Cree, which always brought a smile, I started a small time I had taken in a good haul or fur and thoroughly broken the ice, much to the disgust of our opponent Daniel.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

(To be continued)

Returns from Orient

REV. T. D. CHOWN.

Superintendent of the Methodist Mission in the Orient, where he reports favorable progress in the Mission fields of the Far East.

Rowell Causes Sensation

Starting Statement From Canadian Delegate at Geneva Debate.

Geneva.—The liveliest motion this assembly has experienced was provoked by Hon. N. W. Rowell, of Canada, who presented a statement regarding European statesmanship in a way that startled diplomats of the old world.

The next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Pierre and I slept under our canoe that night and next morning we were kept busy trading, so soon disposed of the bulk of our goods. I decided to return to our main camp, but first arranged a definite appointment with Ki-say-the-shah, saying that my next visit would see more goods and later styles. Shaking hands with all my new friends, and giving some trifles to the girls who helped start the campaign, away we went, Master Pierre in the bow as before. On reaching home I found everything in good order, and on coming up to find I finally decided to send Pierre back to the Fox with all returns of trade, and also an official letter to the Chief telling him the man was no more use to me, and I would prefer, now that I was on friendly terms with both hands of Indians, to remain aloof for the balance of the spring. Pierre daily started and ended in the best of humors. I visited the nearby camps, collected some small beads and picked up a good deal more for the next excitement was an Indian feast to which I received a special invitation. The bands were to meet at a specially chosen spot about midway between the main camps. In the meantime hunters had to kill all game possible, as there was no doubt every one would attend. Finally, O-sowuk moved camp (nude included) and we pitched again on the new community site. The feast was the celebration was the Goose Dance, and a large oval enclosure was formed by sticking young green spruce in the ground at a slant inwards, about five feet in height. At one end was an elevated stage, and the whole oval was open to the sky. The feast was to start between four and five in the afternoon, weather permitting. Down the centre of the enclosure were a row of camp fires. At last the evening arrived, and sticking close to O-sowuk, away we went, and from all sides came the men, women and children, each carrying a dish and a knife and spoon. I had a native-made wooden bowl, a wood spoon and my large sheath knife, my old companion the same. We duly entered the ring and were shown to special seats near the stage (on the ground of course), and here we sat cross-legged waiting for the ceremonies to begin.

At last all were seated and four of the older men, painted and feathered, came in with four long stemmed stone pipes. Each spoke, addressing Kitchi Masitou (The Great Spirit) thanking him for the gift of food and supplies to his Indian children. Each of the winds were given a smoke by presenting the pipes to the four quarters of the compass. Then with a stately walk around, the old men retired. The totem-sticks struck up and four young girls came dancing into the ring, each with a bag of down or fine feathers. Keeping time to the music as they circled, a bunch of down was placed on each visitor's head. There was a pause, then bang went the totem-sticks and the spread, large coverings which had been draped the stage were withdrawn, and here to the view of all beholders were moose and deer heads, beaver and lynx (whole bodies), geese and ducks. The meat cooked in each case and the skins or feathers were drawn over them and they really looked very like a General hum of applause went round. In addition to the stuffed birds and animals were buffalo and bison, pemmican, dried meat, bladders of moose marrow fat and other native luxuries. "Hot Me-choo, Me-choo" (eat, eat) was the cry, and everyone was helped bountifully by the young girl waiters, my share being half a beaver and half a goose, my old companion getting the other halves. Tea was served in quantities with plenty of hot sugar-free pemmican. The eating was not a steady performance, but went on at intervals all night, varied by dances, weird songs and speeches, all hands joining in the dance at times, myself included.

Canadian Wheat Going To United States

Heavy Movement of Grain Not Surprising to Officials.

Ottawa.—The heavy movement of wheat from Fort William to the United States has occasioned no surprise to Government officials here, in view of the approaching close of navigation, the possibility of a duty being imposed upon Canadian wheat by the United States and the fact that the wheat movement this year has been largely an over-the-border movement. This has been largely because the allied governments have not been in the market for Canadian wheat and the British market has absorbed the little of the Canadian product up to the present time.

Alberta Would Pay For Federal Aid

But Asks Accounting From Dominion For Sum Taken From Province.

Edmonton, Alta.—Alberta will be quite willing to pay back to the Dominion all that it has received in the way of subsidies and grants, if the Dominion, on its part, will give an accounting for all it has taken from the province, and will refund the balance over and above the costs of all administration.

Premier Stewart made this statement as an answer to the strictures passed by Senator Casgrain in Montreal upon the western provinces and their effort to secure possession of their natural resources.

"We are perfectly willing," says Mr. Stewart, "to pay a full share of all the railway construction that represents values properly belonging to Alberta. We do not want the Dominion to spend one dollar in our interests that is not in the interests of Canada as a whole, and we are quite willing to be responsible for the railways that are specially beneficial to Alberta. I repeat what I have said before that we want what rightfully belongs to us and nothing more."

Disappointing Reply of Wilson

Canada Has Made Good Impression at League of Nations Conference.

Geneva.—President Wilson's negative reply to the League of Nations invitation to name an unofficial delegate to co-operate with the commission to investigate the Armenian situation has caused great disappointment here. The desire of the assembly members seem to maintain as many points of contact as possible with the United States, and it thought the disarmament investigation afforded an opportunity of which President Wilson could take advantage without committing himself.

Mr. Wilson's decision regarding the Armenian boundary lines have not been received here. It is thought in London that his reply has more likely been sent to London than Paris, since it is a matter for consideration for the supreme council of the Allies rather than by the League of Nations.

Canada, whose delegation has made a great impression on the assembly, according to the Canadian view, eliminated the provision in the technical committee's report for permanent finance, transit and health commissions. The assembly, impressed by the growing expenses of the league and the international labor bureau, accepted the Canadian view. The Canadians argued that it was preferable to work with temporary commissions having consulting power only until it is possible to set more clearly just what may be done with specialized organizations.

The group is an prolonged stay in Geneva as beginning to worry the delegates and officials of the assembly.

Wheat Shipment to South America.

Vancouver, B.C.—The wheat from the prairie for shipment by boat to Buenos Ayres, is commencing to arrive at the wharves. It is reported that about a score of cars have come in and there are 50 on route now. All shipments thus far have been over the Canadian Pacific Railway, but some of the wheat will come over the Canadian National line. It is expected the ship will be in to load about December 28.

Won Cattle Championships.

Edmonton, Ont.—The grand cattle championship of the Ontario Winter Fair was won by the Shorthorn grade, Matilda, bred and owned and exhibited by John Kopas and Son, Elora. The winner was decided after a close contest with Greenwood Gaylad, the entry of the University of Alberta.

Turks Attack Greeks.

London.—The forces of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, attacking the Greeks at many points in Asia Minor, says a dispatch to the London Times from Smyrna. The dispatch added that Gen. Papoulas, commander-in-chief of the Greeks, had left for the front.

Fined for Spreading False Report.

Belfast.—Directors Martin Fitzgerald and Hamilton Edwards, of the Freeman's Journal of Dublin, who were found guilty of "spreading a false report intended to cause disaffection," were sentenced to six months imprisonment and fined £500 each.

Winnipeg's New Mayor

EDWARD PARKNELL.

Mayor-Elect for City of Winnipeg, 1921.

U.S. Puts Ban on Immigration

Representative Mann Wants Avenue Left Open for Irish to Escape From "Drastic Measures" of British.

Washington.—Amendment of the Johnson bill to reduce the two-year prohibition against immigration to the United States to fourteen months, and charges that foreign governments are "financing the movement of radicals to the United States," marked another day of debate in the House on immigration legislation.

Adoption by a vote of 87 to 25 of the amendment offered by Representative Mann, Republican, Illinois, to reduce the embargo period, was a surprise to advocates of the legislation and constituted the first victory for the opposition leaders.

Representative Mann, in an address opposing the measure, said he was apprehensive that the British Government is likely to adopt more drastic methods than has up to the present time, in dealing with the deplorable conditions in Ireland, and that under the terms of the bill, "an Irishman seeks to escape from the drastic measures adopted by the British Government and succeeds in getting a vessel which will carry him from his own shores and land him in the United States, he will be returned by the United States to the British Government to be tried and convicted of treason and perhaps to be hanged."

Mr. Mann predicted that the people of Canada, when they had the chance, would do the same as had the people of Ontario. The elections would send to Ottawa, "a host of good citizens whom they trust and from whom they will expect more advance and more progress than in 100 years from men who should be win popular favor. The people—the demand of the people for honesty, sincerity and courage in Government."

Mr. Mann predicted that the people of Canada, when they had the chance, would do the same as had the people of Ontario. The elections would send to Ottawa, "a host of good citizens whom they trust and from whom they will expect more advance and more progress than in 100 years from men who should be win popular favor. The people—the demand of the people for honesty, sincerity and courage in Government."

Mr. Mann predicted that the people of Canada, when they had the chance, would do the same as had the people of Ontario. The elections would send to Ottawa, "a host of good citizens whom they trust and from whom they will expect more advance and more progress than in 100 years from men who should be win popular favor. The people—the demand of the people for honesty, sincerity and courage in Government."

Mr. Mann predicted that the people of Canada, when they had the chance, would do the same as had the people of Ontario. The elections would send to Ottawa, "a host of good citizens whom they trust and from whom they will expect more advance and more progress than in 100 years from men who should be win popular favor. The people—the demand of the people for honesty, sincerity and courage in Government."

Mr. Mann predicted that the people of Canada, when they had the chance, would do the same as had the people of Ontario. The elections would send to Ottawa, "a host of good citizens whom they trust and from whom they will expect more advance and more progress than in 100 years from men who should be win popular favor. The people—the demand of the people for honesty, sincerity and courage in Government."</

For The Christmas Table

H. P. Sauce	25c
Oscar Sauce	50c
Grapes	40c
Cranberry's	20c.
Pumpkin	20c. can
Pine Apple	40c. can
Apples No. 1	$3.90 case
Sweet Potatoes	15c.
Spinach, tin	35c.
Asparagus, tin	45c.
Nabob Coffee	65c. tin
Oranges, large	00c.

Table Figs, pkt.	20c.
Table Figs, Layer	35c. lb.
Large Figs	30c. lb.
Currants, pkt.	20c.
Raisins, 11 oz.	30c.
Raisins, 16 oz.	35c.
Mince-meat, pkt.	22 1/2c.
Dates, pkt.	30c.
Table Nuts, lb.	40c.
Walnuts, shelled	90c.
Almonds, shelled	80c.
Preserved Ginger jar	75c.
Jiffy Jell, pkt.	20c.
Jello	15c.
Colored Icing, 20c.
Honey, Berry 5s.	$2.40
Cherries in Bottle	25c. and 40c.
Hip-o-Light	50c.
Welche's Grape Juice	50c.
Jap Oranges, Box	$1.35
Christmas Bells 10c., 15c. and 25c.
Xmas Candles, Box 10c. 15c. 25c.
Caraway Candy	5c. oz.
Corn for popping	20c. pkt.
Shortbread Biscuits lb.	50c.
Chocolate Biscuits lb.	60c.

Candy For the Kiddie Ganong's Christmas Cream 50c. lb.
Ganong's Xmas Mixed 50c. lb.
Candy Figures & Animals 80c. lb.

Ganong's Chocolates in Boxes
15c. 60c. $1.25

Cigars for Dad
Van Loo, in box $1.25

Men's Silk
NECKTIES

An extravagant assortment of new ties in four-in-hand, flowing ends, narrow shapes and knitted styles. Priced at 65c., $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.25.

SUGGESTIONS FOR XMAS GIFTS

WINDSOR TIES

In wash silk and silk crepe-de-chene. In plain colors, plaids and embroidered styles.

35c. to $1.50

BOUDOIR CAPS

A choice selection of these dainty styles in silk and silk and net combinations.

Dainty styles in a variety of pretty colorings at from

$1.00 to $2.75

XMAS
HANDKERCHIEFS

Exceptionally good values.
Single handkerchiefs from 10c. to 50c. each.

In Xmas Boxes from

50c. to $1.50 per box.

VENUS SILK HOSE

A pure thread silk hose, in black, white, French blue, sky, pink, and emerald at $2.50 per pair.

HOLE PROOF SILK HOSE

In black, white, pink, sky,
Emerald, Buck Gun Metal,
Champagne, Navy and Pearl
grey.

$2.25 a pair

QUEEN QUALITY
ITALIAN SILK UNDER-WEAR

Pure silk in flesh color only.
Vests at $3.00 and $3.65 ea-Combinations at $5.50 to $6.50 per suit.

PRAM RUGS

Lovely warm rugs for baby, soft and fleecy.... $6.50 ea.

A SALE OF SILK PETTICOATS

Regular $15.00 values for $11.75.

A pure silk quality in pretty floral patterns with deep pleated flounce.

WOOL &amp; EIDERDOWNS

For Kimonos and Bath Robes, Lovely Soft finish in a pure wool fleece. In scarlet and bright blue. 27 inches wide

$1.75 per yard

LADIES WINTER COATS

PLUSH, SILVERTONES AND VELOURS
ALL REDUCED 20 per cent. to clear

Special In Boy's Hockey Shoes

Sizes 11 to 5

To Clear at $2.95 a pair

Up and Down the Golden Stair

The process of deflation has become general over the country. In the good old days we usually sobered up, after an orgy of prosperity, by having a panic. Now that our financial structure has been placed upon a broader base and machinery devised for slowing down the backward swing of the pendulum, the old-time high-powered, self-starting panic has given place to a slower and less painful method of letting out the gas.

During the entire war period we were engaged in joyously climbing up the golden stairs. Prices, profits, and wages kept leaping skyward, as if the law of gravitation had been suspended. In spite of untiring and enthusiastic effort on the part of the Government, neither the excess profits tax nor the laws against profiteering were able to cool the prevailing passion for altitude.

Then came a time, as there always does, when outraged economic law began to bar the way toward further inflation. The public stopped buying for the sole reason that it was safer, and saner and easier to do without commodities and services than to pay from two to ten times as much as they were worth. No one suggested or engineered this. It just happened by the operation of natural laws or instincts at last to face the pack pursuing tinct, the same as the hunted stag him.

As soon as the public stopped buying, the middleman had to stop buying and cancellations of orders began to pour into the offices of the manufacturers. These two processes were not visible to the public at first.
It was only when manufacturing plants began to shut down or go on a part-time schedule that ordinary folks began to take notice.

Of course the official saviours of the down-trodden worker announced at once that all this was simply another dark conspiracy on the part of capital to destroy labor, and it must be stopped either by government intervention or by strikes in all industries. No amount of terrorism, however, legal or illegal can force men to do business at a loss. It is like asking an athlete to run a race with a slit in his jugular vein.

So it comes to pass that the runaway tyro of wages, profits and prices are beginning to climb down the golden stairs. Let us hope that they will make the descent step at a time and not take a big tumble. But no matter how they do it, the process will be painful, and to a certain degree dangerous. People have enjoyed their fictitious prosperity. And while they were glad to take their profit on the upward movement they resent the necessary of taking corresponding losses on the decline.

But there is no alternative. A few more crooked or more fortunate than the rest of us may escape the general shearing. This may seem entirely satisfactory to them, but in the end it will no insure to the safety or permanence of their processes. For the fact remains that for the rank and file of mankind, there is really no way of getting rich quickly. When the present time of unsettlement and dis-location is over, people will find themselves about where they were before it began. Which only proves that progress by the slow and safe method of normal evolution is the only real progress after all.

Will U. S. Exclude Our Wheat

A Kansas representative wants Congress to put a duty of 45 cents per bushel on wheat from foreign countries entering the United States. Rather it should be said, he wants Congress to prevent foreign wheat entering the United States by penalizing it to that extent, for the "protection" is probably high enough to kill the import trade.

There can be no doubt that the exclusion from the U. S. Market would be a bad thing for Canadian wheat grower just at present, and in less degree disadvantageous to him in normal times. But the loss would not be all on his side. The Canadian wheat bought and used in the United States is largely paid for by manufactured goods sent to this country, and stoppage of the wheat import would correspondingly cut down export trade of the Republic; while the Kansas grower would get nothing out of the deal unless the price of flour and bread in the United States went up.

It may be, but it is scarcely likely that the people of the United States are prepared to penalize themselves to the extent of forty-five cents per bushel on wheat, and to cut down the export business they need now worse than they ever did before, in order to pull Kansas' crop of new farmers out of the hole into which they plunged themselves when they bought farm lands at wildly inflated values based on war-time prices. They may do it, but it will be time enough to begin to shiver when it is done.

Rainy Creek News

Will Daniel, who has been visiting his father and other relatives, left for his home in the States the latter part of last week.

Miss Annie Thompson, was in Red Deer Tuesday of last week, having done dental work done.
Mrs. J. J. Nelson went to Red Deer

Notice to Cattle Breeders of Lacombe and Surrounding Districts

A meeting of all interested in the breeding of pure bred stock will be held in the Town Hall, Lacombe, on Wednesday 29th
December instant, for the purpose of discussing the advisability of holding a Bull Sale at Lacombe during the ensuing year, and, in such case, forming an Association for that purpose.

By order of the Board of

Lacombe Agricultural Society

JOHN McKENTY,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Bread is Your Best
Food

EAT MORE
OF IT
There's a reason for the increasing demand
for our bread.
Are you serving it on Your table?

Your "Home Town" Baker

JAMES CRAIGEN

BAKER Phone 5 CONFECTIONER
Lacombe, Alberta

on Tuesday last, to visit her sister, who is in the hospital at that place.
Mr. Parkinson, took a trip to Edmonton the first of this week.

Fred Daniel, returned from a trip to Calgar, the latter part of last week.
Most of the Rainy Creek big game hunters have returned home. We believe Fred Nelson was successful in getting a moose, and Mr. S. M.

Burger, a deer.
N. S. Nelson, J. C. Carrit and wife and Mrs. Dane, were in attendance at the U. F. A. Political convention at Red Deer, Tuesday and Wed. last.
Surprising value in high grade sparkling cut glass. Just the thing for Xmas at Hotson's.

St. Andrew's

Presbyterian

Church

The Wilson Company

Saturday, December 18th

AT 8p.m.

Miss Coats
Soprano

Grace Bonnick
Pianist Entertainer

Nellie McGhie
The Scottish Violinist

Bob Wilson
Comedian

Mirth, Music, Song and Story

ADULTS $1.00

JUNIORS 25cts.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned wish to thank the electors for electing them to the council and will try and merit their confidence.

D. Cameron
W. P. Parsons
Perry W. Pratt

Notice

Sec. 6, Clause 8 of the M. D. Act provides that the wife, husband, son and daughter of each person assessed being a resident of the Municipal district and being of the full age of twenty-one years, providing his or her name does not appear on the list as a person assessed, may on application before the 31st of December have their name placed on voters list. D8-3c.